Make your own ^(mini) Broads National Park

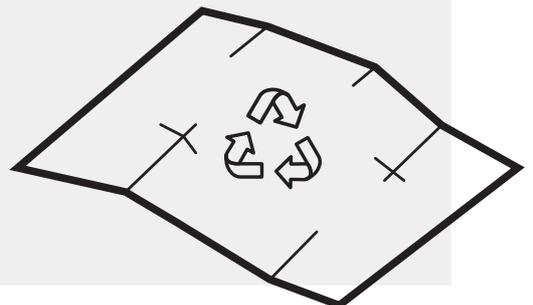

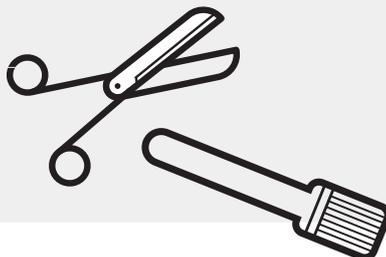

Are you missing the beautiful Broads? Why not create your own model Broads at home?

We want people to create a model of the Broads and send us a photograph to share.

Your model could be in a corner of your garden, or on an old tray in your bedroom. It could be large or small (in a shoe box). It should include things that make the Broads a very special place. It doesn't have to be of the whole Broads, but it should capture something about the landscape like wildlife (plants and animals), people, boats, water, mills and marshes.

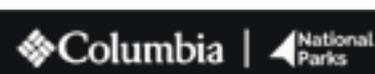

“Building a ‘mini Broads’ is a great way to discover what makes the Broads National Park such a special place. Model-making is really fun and it’s also very satisfying to see your creation once it’s finished!”
